

"Thank you to the Katie School, and Gamma for the opportunity to go to the E&S symposium presented by Troy University. A tremendous amount of experienced was gained while I was in Birmingham, whether it was from speakers from NAPSLO, matured insurance professionals, or new insurance employees that have just started their careers. The E&S side of the insurance industry is dynamic, fun, fast paced, and competitive. Not only did I learn about the ins and outs of insurance, I built relationships with other students from across the country. While meeting with these students I have come to realize that a big part of the insurance industry is making connections and building relationships."
